

George Orwell was Right!

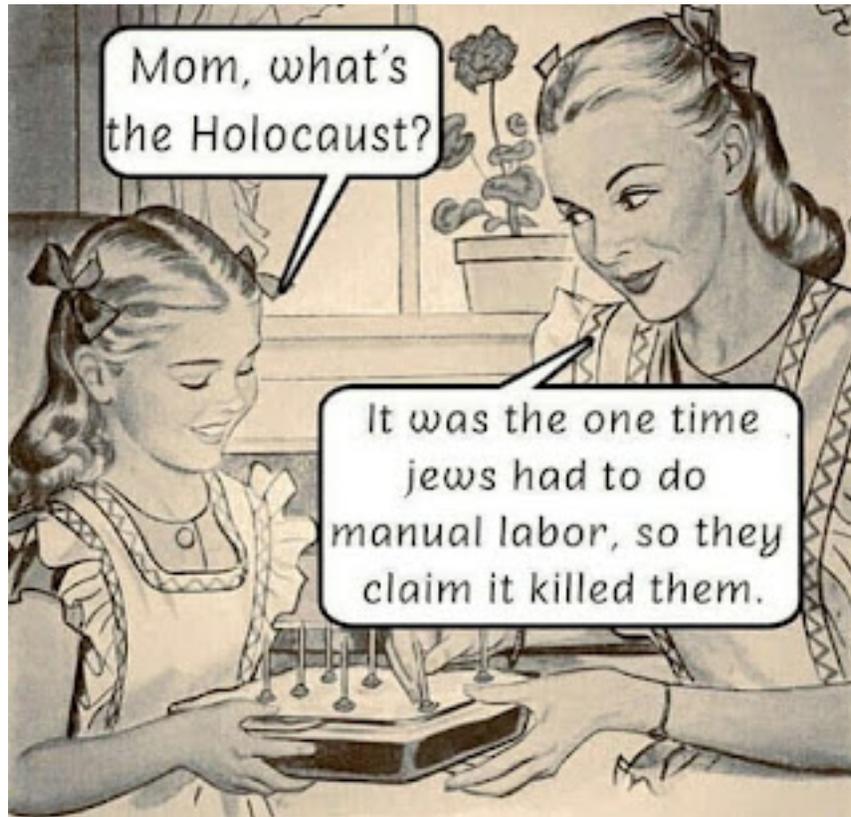

Why do world leaders need to fly to Rome in private jets, then fly to Glasgow in private jets, then fly home in private jets, to make the point that the rest of us need to switch off our central heating, pay 30% more for gas & scrap our cars?

Isn't it interesting that a Liberal can be outraged by the word "retarded" because they think it is an insult to all children with Down Syndrome but can still be for the right to abort any child with Down Syndrome?

Something to think about.

If your doctor prescribes you medication without first asking about ...

- your diet

- your sleep

- your exercise routine

- your water consumption

- whether you have any structural issues &

- the stress in your life

Then you don't have a doctor, you have a drug dealer.

Chantix was approved by FDA for use in 2006, it took until June 2021 for them to realize there was unacceptable levels of cancer causing nitrosamines in it forcing the folks over at the big P company to halt production and recall.

In other words, their research of it's effects on the human body took 15 years to uncover. 15 years to figure out that it is dangerous.

Just a little food for thought next time some of you feel compelled to call others selfish or stupid for being skeptical of something that hasn't even been established/approved for a full 12 months.
